Classification : Website Announcement

Incident Date : 06/20/2012

Author/Date/Time : Deputy Yoav Shalev / 06/20/2012 / 1400

Incident Time :

A new community-based website has been launched that is dedicated to the communities served by the Malibu-Lost Hills Sheriff's Station (www.LostHills.lasd.org) of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department.

The website of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department (www.lasd.org) shares information pertaining to the entire jurisdiction of the L.A.S.D. and content is prepared by Sheriff's Headquarters Bureau.

Malibu-Lost Hills Sheriff's Station polices the City of Agoura Hills, the City of Calabasas, the City of Hidden Hills, the City of Malibu, the City of Westlake Village, and unincorporated communities of Chatsworth Lake Manor, Malibu Lake, Topanga, and West Hills: www.LostHills.lasd.org

This new community-based website mirrors the look and feel of www.lasd.org, but it is geographically specific and topic specific to the communities served by the Malibu-Lost Hills Sheriff's Station. Over 40 languages are available via Google's link to an automated foreign language translator.

"The public has requested more geographically-specific and topic-specific information about their Sheriff's Department," said Sheriff Lee Baca. "These Sheriff's station webpages and the many more that will follow enable unit commanders to provide information of greatest interest to local communities. They provide the public what, we believe, the public has long wanted, in the way they want it provided. It is useful and interesting information, presented in an engaging and highly visual way."
