

National University

National University entered a relationship with the Sheriff Department in 2002. Since then we have graduated hundreds in Bachelors and Masters programs as we are able to offer a 40% discount to employees of the department, their spouses and dependents when taking specific programs at sites like STARS Center, Twin Towers and others!

National University is the second largest not for profit private institution of higher learning in California. Since 1971, National University has been dedicated to making lifelong learning opportunities accessible, challenging, and relevant to a diverse student population. As a nonprofit institution, National University invests in its students by providing them with quality educational instruction and learning technologies, superior faculty, and exemplary student services. National University has four schools and one college, including: School of Business and Management, School of Education, School of Engineering, Technology and Media, School of Health and Human Services, and the College of Letters and Sciences.

Dedicated to educational access and academic excellence, National University provides challenging and relevant programs that are student-centered, success-oriented, and have a proven balance of theoretical and practical attributes. Additionally, students are encouraged to take advantage of National's unique student services options designed to support students throughout their career. Our unique format of one class per month allows our students to plan academic schedules around business and personal obligations. Most degree programs have multiple entry points so that students can begin classes at National nearly any month of the year.

National University is proud of its commitment to diversity and provides more master's degrees in education to minority students than any other college or university in California, as well as more master's degrees in all disciplines combined to the state's Hispanics and African Americans, according to Diverse Issues in Higher Education. Annually, National University also ranks in the Top 10 nationally in granting master's degrees to women.
