Presentations Orlando, FL

Organizational Scientific Area Committees

Mon. & Tues. Feb 16 & 17, 2015

Sandie Enslow attended these interesting and informative meetings which showed how these OSAC groups work. The discipline specific subcommittees identify and develop standards and guidelines for each discipline. She was specifically interested in the Crime Scene/Death Investigation OSAC.

This OSAC Group includes:

- Anthropology
- Disaster Victim Identification
- Dogs and Sensors
- Fire Scene and Explosives
- Medical/ Legal Death Investigations
- Odontology

This section is a good fit for Forensic Art. We are a growing community and actively used within law enforcement, MEs and educational systems. A subcommittee on Forensic Art would help achieve national consensus and stability for the future of this discipline.

Will FA be considered for a Subcommittee?

There is no guarantee but hopefully, the FSSB will consider us. We certainly are not going away but continue to grow as a discipline. This is an exciting time for all of forensic science - and hopefully, FA will be a part of it!

Dr. Gregory Davis
Chairman,
Crime Scene/Death Investigation OSAC

Sandie Enslow with Tom Mauriello of FORENSICWEEK.com. She chaired his workshop on Public Speaking. Interested in getting interviewed about FA for his show? Contact Forensic Week at: forensicweek@gmail.com

Sandie met up with Samantha Steinberg, Miami Dade PD at the General Section Reception. They went to dinner afterwards. It was really nice to meet and connect with her. Wondering what her take is on the AAFS? Ask her!!

Summer Decker, Dir. of Imaging Research at Univ. of So. Florida Morsani College of Medicine (one of our favorite anthropologists) with Sandie. She first met Summer (through FA Debbie Goff, SLED) in 2011 at the AAFS in Chicago!

Sandie and Det. Ivan Kaminsky, Chandler PD, were co-moderators for a General Section Scientific Session. Organizing the speakers, starting and ending on time was an interesting and, at moments, wild job! Ivan spoke highly of his FA - Jennifer Bailey.
