

I.C.I. Homicide and Death Investigation Course

OVERVIEW

This course is for Law Enforcement Personnel working in the field as Homicide Investigators or for those who plan to promote to the Homicide Investigator Field Assignment for the first time. Designed mainly for classroom instruction, it includes interaction with students and student presentations. Students have the opportunity to manage and process crime scenes (provided) from start to finish utilizing actual Homicide Death Investigation Tools and Techniques. The exercise is monitored and evaluated by LASD Homicide Detectives.

Forensic Art

A wide variety of relevant topics are covered in this course. One of them is Forensic Art presented by Sandie Enslow, Forensic Artist, LASD. Legal ramifications, proper procedures when working with FAs, case management and the handling of high profile cases are included subjects. Learning to compare features and knowing what to look for is crucial. Students compare actual six packs to actual composites, make choices and then reviewing the actual booking photo that correlates with that composite drawing. Understanding what this information-generating tool can do for your case is an advantage.

This two-week (80 hour) course is generally presented four times a year by LASD and is coordinated by The Advanced Officer's Training Unit (Training Bureau).
